1-1 RFQ Section 4.3 Pre-Qualification Procedures

1-1.1 Revise paragraph 4.3.5 Licensing, as follows:

From:

Licensing. Except as otherwise permitted by this Paragraph 4.3.5, each Contractor must possess at all times during the Pre-Qualification and Bid processes an active Class A (General Engineering) contractor's license issued by the California Contractors State Licensing Board that is in good standing. If the Contractor is a joint venture consisting of two or more individuals, firms, partnerships, corporations, associations or other organizations in which at least one of such joint venturers holds an active Class A (General Engineering) contractor's license issued by the California Contractors State Licensing Board that is in good standing, then such Contractor shall be entitled, notwithstanding the absence of separate joint venture license, to apply for Pre-Qualification and to be considered for Award of the Contract; provided, however, that any Firm that is selected to receive Award of the Contract must possess, at the time of bid, a separate joint venture Class A (General Engineering) contractor's license issued by the California Contractors State Licensing Board that is in good standing.

To:

Licensing. Except as otherwise permitted by this Paragraph 4.3.5, each Contractor must possess at all times during the Pre-Qualification and Bid processes an active Class A (General Engineering) or Class B (General Building) contractor's license issued by the California Contractors State Licensing Board that is in good standing. If the Contractor is a joint venture consisting of two or more individuals, firms, partnerships, corporations, associations or other organizations in which at least one of such joint venturers holds an active Class A (General Engineering) or Class B (General Building) contractor's license issued by the California Contractors State Licensing Board that is in good standing, then such Contractor shall be entitled, notwithstanding the absence of separate joint venture license, to apply for Pre-Qualification and to be considered for Award of the Contract; provided, however, that any Firm that is selected to receive Award of the Contract must possess, at the time of bid, a separate joint venture Class A (General Engineering) or Class B (General Building) contractor's license issued by the California Contractors State Licensing Board that is in good standing.
